

You're Invited to a Family Engineering Night!

Join us for a night of family engineering with our friends from The Works Museum. This event features hands-on activities – including a take-home project – designed for families to explore and learn together.

Get ready for some engineering fun!

The Works Museum is a non-profit with the mission to inspire the next generation of innovators, engineers, and creative problem solvers. Through our interactive exhibits, hands-on workshops, and inspiring special events, we ignite interest in STEM learning for children in grades K-6.

For even more engineering exploration, visit theworks.org.
